

Cambridge Physics Centre presents:

Bubbles: Trick or Treat

By Dr Gianluca Memoli, Department of Chemical Engineering, Imperial College, London

Sponsored by:

Cavendish Laboratory

6pm Thursday 13th October 2011
Pippard Lecture Theatre
Cavendish Laboratory, J J Thomson Ave,
Cambridge, CB3 0HE.

No need to book, just turn up
<http://www.phy.cam.ac.uk/contact/directions.php>

Bubbles are everywhere, in children's toys, in modern technology and naturally occurring. Questions about bubbles that puzzled Leonardo da Vinci have only just been solved and many mysteries are still unexplained.

This interactive tour of the bubble world uses demonstrations and stories to show how bubbles are used to cure cancer and search for clean energy. It shows how bubbles are part of New York fashion week, coke, chocolate and the vomit comet.